Analysis

Measurement and analysis of upstream and downstream metrics are essential to the success of a workers' compensation cost containment program. Safety National's Workers' Comp Kit™ offers online self-evaluations of program components, cost comparisons and program improvement solutions.

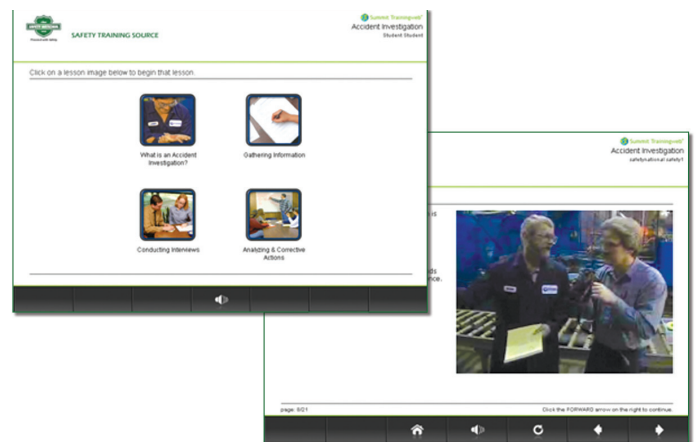

- Program Evaluation – This online self-assessment tool helps to evaluate how well an organization's workers' compensation program aligns with industry best practices in terms of managing and controlling the cost of claims. The evaluation assesses performance in key areas and provides customized recommendations for improvement based on the assessment results.
- On-line Benchmarking Tool – This resource allows an organization to compare its losses to that of its peers on a national level within one of 14 industry averages or on a state comparison level.
- Cost Reduction Tools – Access to over 60 tools such as letters, presentations, forms and worksheets to assist in improving your workers' compensation injury management program.

Prevention

Safety National believes prevention is the key to a successful risk management program because every accident prevented saves lives and organizational costs. The following resources assist policyholders with safety and loss prevention programs.

- Safety Training Source – This online training resource offers an alternative to traditional training. With self-paced courses and learning management system tracking available for every employee, policyholders can take advantage of more than 150 course titles which include OSHA compliance topics, Defensive Driving, safety issues and more. Assign courses, track progress and scores, and log completion of trainings through the learning management system while staying in compliance with regulatory requirements.

- Risk Control Services:

- Remote Consultations – Safety National's Risk Control professionals are available to answer questions and provide assistance over the phone or electronically.
- Consultant Network – Safety National maintains a nationwide network of independent consultants that work with organizations to improve risk control and safety management programs as well as provide specialized services such as ergonomics and industrial hygiene assessments. Safety National's Risk Control department works with policyholders to match specific needs and requests to the appropriate consultant, providing high-level oversight of the project.
- Risk Control Organization Review – Safety National works with groups and associations to ensure that risk control services provided to members are appropriate best practices for the size and type of the member companies.

- Safety Partners and Discounts – Safety National has established discounted partnerships with prevention resource providers on behalf of policyholders. These relationships include:
  - BLR - safety, human resources, and environmental needs
